8.1 Fiscal Year 2023-24 Mid-Year Performance Measures

Library Director, Tracy Gray provided an update on the mid-year performance measures. Visits to the library are on target with over 300 thousand this mid-year. Circulation continues to increase, especially with digital materials like e-books and audio books. Program attendance continues to be steady with attendee's satisfaction feedback remaining positive. Putting on quality programs that positively impact the community. The computer stations and study rooms continue to increase with usage. Statistics for the study rooms will be added to the next performance measures in July. Numbers may be correlated to people getting out from Covid restrictions and seeing an increase during post pandemic which has since fizzled out through this fiscal year as things return to normal.

9.1 Library Director's Report

Library Director, Tracy Gray shared an update on the new bike tool kits which are now available to check out for one week. The Bookmobile received positive comments from new residents who visited and stayed for story time. This also peaked their interest with signing up for a new library card and checking out materials. The bookmobile event schedule is available online and promoted on the Library's social media platforms.

The Tax Preparation program kicked off with a great turn out. The Friends of the Mountain View Library is celebrating their 50th anniversary this year. In celebration, the Friends will be giving staff anniversary shirts, having special book sales, and having their goal of finding 50 new volunteer members. The Friends' upcoming book sale will be on the weekend of March 2-3.

Public comment:

Nicolas Hargis, shared it was great to see the bookmobile at the lunar celebration. Suggested an idea for the History Center to include books about Chinese Americans or Asian Americans who make up 30% of our community and would be an important feature for inclusivity.
