

Consumer Price Index Information

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market. The CPI is based on prices of food, clothing, shelter, and fuels, transportation fares, charges for doctors' and dentists' services, drugs, and the other goods and services that people buy for day-to-day living. The index measures price changes from a designated reference date (1982-84) that equals 100.0.

The following table and chart are calculated from the full CPI analysis published by the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics<sup>1</sup> for the San Francisco-Oakland-Hayward, CA<sup>2</sup> metropolitan area using the calculations related to determining the Maintenance of Net Operating Income for Petitions for Upward Adjustment of Rent. The time period shown is based on the first month the Rent Stabilization Program began accepting applications through the most recently published index date of February 2020:
