Production Selection

Title of Play:

First Choice: The NSA's Guide To Winning Friends And Influencing People, by Don Zoldis

Second Choice: 2045, by Scott Lummer

Third Choice: The Game, by Louise Bryant

Rehearsal Plan (Do not need exact dates, just number of rehearsals per week and rehearsal weeks needed): two tech days plus three rehearsals a week for five weeks

Why have you selected your first, second, third choice plays? (Attach document if necessary.)

My first choice is "The NSA's Guide to Winning Friends and Influencing People," because when I read the script I could immediately visualize how I could recreate the play on Second Stage. I thought the script was hilarious, and I really enjoyed reading it. It would be a very engaging show for the actors and the audience, where they both could build off each other's energy. The transitions used in the play allow for actors to each play multiple people so it would be a smaller show, but I thought while researching this that the changes in characters adds additional comedy to the show as well. Overall, this show really captivated me, and I am very excited about this one in particular.

My second choice is "2045" by Scott Lummer, because it feels relevant to the Bay Area and teenagers. Reading this, I realized that the parents of this play are from my generation, and I think it would be interesting and thought-provoking for teens and adults to watch a show from the perspective of the future.

My third choice is "The Game" by Louise Bryant, because while it's a classic, it is performed in a really unique and abstract way that I thought would be very interesting to attempt to do.

Image, Video, and Likeness Release

I hereby grant permission to the Mountain View Performing Arts Committee, and any and all persons authorized on their behalf, to record and use my name, image, voice, and likeness or that of my child in videotape, broadcast, photographic, and printed materials for promotional purposes.
