Hi Philip -

I got the notice in the mail about the meeting on September 13. Ideally there is a sound specification in decibels that the car wash cannot exceed. That way it is in objective and concrete avoiding future points of contention. Without a written and agreed upon specification, the owner of the property can then drag it out as the sound quality will be subjective. In general, I am for the gas station and convenience store. I am strongly against putting in a car wash so close to so many residential buildings.
