Good afternoon

Here are a few issues:

Housing specialist is rarely onsite, I have been told since February that I had a referral to see the housing specialist. He has yet to ever contact me. It is wrong that he is only available during times where the large majority are at work. He needs to be available on evening and weekends. Homelessness is a money making business there should a housing specialist on-site more often. None of this we have one specialist for multiple sites.

There are a lot of heated verbal issues going on among clients. The tension at times is bad. There is also bullying going on to certain clients too hopefully keep them quite too want they have witnessed or what they heard.
