Friends of Caltrain is pleased to introduce an opportunity for cities and organizations on the Peninsula Corridor to play a more powerful role in shaping our future.

There is an unprecedented surge in capital spending - over $5 billion over the next decade - to modernize Caltrain and connect the line to downtown San Francisco.

Caltrain will make decisions over the next two years that will shape the capacity to serve our region for the next twenty years and more. At the same time, cities, developers and employers are making decisions to increase reliance on Caltrain and transportation alternatives to support economic vibrancy while maintaining quality of life and combating congestion and climate change. The State of California and the Bay Area is implementing policies to encourage transit-supportive land use.

At this critical time, Friends of Caltrain provides important information and connections for organizations that depend on transit in the corridor. Friends of Caltrain...

- Organizes a grassroots constituency to support Caltrain funding and modernization
- Educates riders and stakeholders, including employers, businesses, and decision-makers about the value of Caltrain service and improvements
- Informs riders and stakeholders about time-sensitive opportunities to support transit improvements and funding
- Coordinates a network of rail and transit policy experts providing feedback on Caltrain-related decisions
- Shares best practices to facilitate the rapidly growing trend toward vehicle trip reduction policies in the Caltrain corridor
- Engages constructive community participation in station area land use and station access in every community on the corridor
- Collaborates with Caltrain and other agencies to increase community feedback on key transit decisions
- Helps city and county decision makers to aware of activity elsewhere in the corridor
- Encourages constructive input to transit-related regional and state policies
- Partners with transit, environmental, community and business groups for coordinated action along the corridor
- Helps our decentralized area act together
