IV. Findings: immigrant perspectives

Data from immigrants

- Data were collected from immigrants via focus groups and the survey.
- The focus groups were facilitated by HRC Commissioners, with MCOP interpreting support for the Mandarin and Russian language groups.
- Focus group data are called out only where they present a different perspective or enhance a perspective from the survey, because the survey:
  - Yielded similar findings to the focus groups
  - Reflects the input of many more people than the focus groups
  - Reflects the input of many people who participated in the focus groups

Overview of survey respondents:

Eligible respondents

Survey language	# of surveys
English	75
Spanish	92
Chinese	84
Russian	17
TOTAL	268

Eligible respondents met all of the following criteria:

1. Living and/or working in MV when completed survey
2. Not born in the U.S.
3. Not assigned U.S. citizenship at birth
4. Moved to U.S. with intention of living here

Overview of survey respondents: living and/or working in MV

Live in MV (only)	57.5%
Work in MV (only)	8.6%
Live and work in MV	34.0%

Over 90% of respondents lived in MV, and just over a third also worked in MV.

Note: Percentages by category don't add up to exactly 100.0% due to rounding.

Overview of survey respondents: age

Survey language	Mean (SD) Min, Max
English (n=38)	44.6 (11.2) 20-74
Spanish (n=61)	45.3 (11.0) 29-78
Chinese (n=42)	46.0 (15.4) 29-76
Russian (n=12)	58.2 (19.9) 30-90
TOTAL (n=153)	46.3 (13.5) 20-90

- In all language groups, all respondents were adults, including seniors.
- No one under age 20 participated in the survey, and few young adults participated.

Overview of survey respondents: gender

Overview of survey respondents: country of origin

n=237

Respondent n=15; in some cases >1 word was included for a single respondent.

One-word description of MV: all surveys combined

Respondent n=228; in some cases >1 word was included for a single respondent.

Something to aspire to, for all....

“I love Mountain View[,] it has been my home since I was 5 years old, I have such great memories of feeling like I have belonged. I had a great experience in all the schools I attended here and the teachers that supported me. The programs the City of Mountain View has put on since I was little will stay in my memory forever. ”

- English language survey respondent

Perception of MV as unwelcoming/ welcoming place to live/work

Perception of MV City gov't. as unwelcoming/ welcoming

Across language groups, overall percentages that perceived MV City gov't. as "welcoming" were fairly similar.

The percentage "unsure" was highest among Russian-speakers, but this group's sample size was very small (n=14).

- Very welcoming
- Somewhat welcoming
- Somewhat unwelcoming
- Very unwelcoming
- Unsure

Note: Percentages in each language group may not add up to exactly 100.0% due to rounding.

Comments in survey on MV being welcoming

- Respondents described welcoming attributes of MV, e.g., diverse, safe, peaceful, and friendly.
- Many respondents highlighted City programs they viewed positively, including:
  - Library
  - Parks
  - Free shuttle
  - Sr. Center activities
  - City events
  - Recreation programs
  - Volunteer opportunities
  - Immigrant support services
- Several respondents mentioned having positive experiences with City services, finding them responsive and respectful.

“There are bilingual story times for kids in the Mountain View library and a lot of books in Chinese to borrow. For those who come from non-English speaking countries, it makes us feel warmly welcomed and included.”

- Chinese-language respondent

“The city staff is welcoming and friendly, and promptly resolves all residents' complaints.”

- Russian-language respondent

Comments in survey on MV being unwelcoming

- Several respondents noted that the City could improve its accessibility and connection to the community.
- A large number of primarily Spanish-language respondents noted the high rent and cost of living in MV, with several commenting that the City had not done enough to address these challenges, leading to (fear of) displacement.
- A number of primarily Chinese-language respondents noted dissatisfaction with the City's cannabis policies and decision-making process.

“The local government works for the wellbeing of the community, but I think the local government is not so accessible for the people that might need something and don't know how to access it or where to go.”

- Spanish-language respondent

“I believe this is a safe place, but is it very expensive to live here, and I'd like people to consider that not just people working in tech live here, we're also gardeners, we take care of children, we clean houses, and the work we do also has worth.”

- Spanish-language respondent

Most important contributions of immigrants to MV per survey

Most commonly cited:

- Diversity
- Cultural enrichment (e.g., food, shops, opportunities for interaction with people with different perspectives)
- Hardworking and/or skilled labor force, fueling tech industry growth
- Tax money
- Economic growth
- Community service and involvement in advocacy for city improvements (primarily Spanish- and Chinese-language respondents)

“Diverse cultures, mutual communication and understanding between different ethnic groups, and harmony make this city a unique place.”

- Chinese-language respondent

“Immigrants co-founded or made huge contributions to many of our high-tech companies. Lower-income immigrant workers make it possible for businesses and families to run smoothly by working hard behind the scenes.”

- English language respondent

“We contribute our spirit of service to the community.”

- Spanish language respondent

- Russian-speakers were more likely than other groups to have attended a special event, less likely to have engaged in activities at City Hall (BUT: very small sample size).

Suggestions to make City services, activities, or events more immigrant-friendly, per survey

Most common responses:

- Provide more interpreting services at City events and meetings and at City Hall.
- Publicize City meetings and events more, in the various languages, e.g., via:
  - Schools (including the MVLA Adult School)
  - Churches
  - Posters at residences
  - Small resource fairs
  - Involving the community more

“Please provide Chinese translation in municipal activities and have daily staff in the municipal hall to do the Chinese translation.”

- Chinese language respondent

“The neighborhood meetings, reminders about City resources available during schools meetings such as ELAC, DELAC, tea time, the cafecito and youth group in churches, among others.”

- Spanish language respondent

Responses each from several survey-takers:

- Offer workshops and other resources on how the City and its gov’t. work.
- Have more adult-friendly City events.
- Consider seniors’ needs more (e.g., hard to get to Community Center/Senior Center; from Chinese language respondents).

“Create a website that provides all the crucial information that people coming to Mountain View need; organize a monthly orientation for newcomers.”

- Russian language respondent

Participation in City leadership activities

	English survey (n=50)	Spanish survey (n=68)	Chinese survey (n=49)	Russian survey (n=14)	TOTAL (n=181)
a. Participated in Leadership MV	2.0%	4.4%	0.0%	0.0%	2.2%
b. Participated in Spanish Lang. Civic Leadership Academy	2.0%	50.0%	0.0%	0.0%	19.3%
c. Applied to serve on City Commission/Committee	4.0%	2.9%	0.0%	0.0%	2.2%

- Half of Spanish-language respondents had participated in the Spanish Language Civic Leadership Academy. (Note: Information about the survey was sent to their contact list.)
- Few respondents overall, and none of the Chinese- or Russian-language respondents, had participated in Leadership MV or applied to serve on a City Commission/Committee.

Suggestions to make City leadership activities more immigrant-friendly

- English, Spanish, and Chinese language respondents offered specific suggestions.
- Most common response, by far, was to publicize leadership opps. more.
  - Some were unaware of leadership opps.
  - A few commented on Leadership MV cost and seemed unaware of its scholarships.
  - Recommendations for how to publicize information about opps. includes:
    - Posting (more) info. on the City website
    - Sending more info. by mail
    - Advertising in Spanish
    - Conducting outreach to former YAC participants, at colleges, to parents via K-12 schools, and at churches
- Several respondents recommended a Chinese or Asian Leadership Academy.

"The City should do more LMV [Leadership MV] outreach to the community, especially the immigrant community. I was invited to participate in LMV by a neighbor of mine; otherwise I would not have known when to apply.... [T]he City should do more outreach about these advisory bodies to encourage diverse representation."

- English language respondent

"I would like that scholarships... could be available so that everyone who did the [Spanish Language] Civic Leadership Academy could also do the Leadership Mountain View Program.... Usually only people who work in large companies ... are the beneficiaries of this course. I feel that it is necessary to have more cultural and economic diversity... to know the needs of each community."

- Spanish language respondent

"I hope there are [leadership] trainings in Chinese."

- Chinese language respondent

Ways MV public safety has been helpful to immigrant communities

- Among all groups, the single most common response was “not sure”.
  - Among Chinese and Russian language respondents, it was virtually the only response.
- The second most common response among English language respondents was that MV public safety serves and protects immigrants just as they do other residents.

“[They] [j]ust serve us as they serve all residents of MV.”
- English language respondent
- The second most common response among Spanish language respondents was that immigrants feel safe.

“We feel safe with Mountain View Police.”
- Spanish language respondent

Additional comments about how public safety has been helpful, from Spanish language focus groups

- Police and Fire Dept. outreach to schools / young people
- Successful efforts to reduce gang activity in MV

Ways MV public safety could better serve immigrant communities

- Across all language groups, the most common response was “not sure”.
- Among each of several language groups (English, Spanish, Chinese), one or several surveys indicated that public safety was good as is.

“I think efforts in this area already are impressive & exceed expectations.”

-English language respondent

“So far the support they give us is very good.”

-Spanish language respondent

Ways MV public safety could better serve immigrant communities: English surveys

The only specific recommendations for public safety from > 1 respondent (each n=2) were:

- Have staff that better represent community demographics (including immigrants).
- Engage in greater outreach (repeat welcoming message to immigrants. provide guidance for newcomers)

“Given current Federal climate, MVPD should repeat that welcoming message over and over....”

-English language respondent

Ways MV public safety could better serve immigrant communities: Spanish surveys

Specific recommendations for public safety most commonly concerned:

- Increasing cultural and/or linguistic competence or sensitivity
- Treating everyone the same regardless of origin or race/ethnicity
- Conducting more outreach to immigrants (e.g., via workshops, cafecitos [meetings over coffee, in Spanish], and at schools)

“Always be friendly and patient with those who do not speak English.”

- Spanish language respondent

“No judging or discriminating because of origin or race.”

- Spanish language respondent

“Talk to the children at school sites and in turn they will tell their parents that the police are there to help and they should not not to fear them.”

- Spanish language respondent

Additional comments about how public safety could better serve immigrants, from Spanish-language focus groups

- Some concerns about racism and racial profiling among the police were expressed.
- One person reported fearing being asked for “papers” if she interacted with the police.

Ways MV public safety could better serve immigrant communities: Chinese surveys

Specific recommendations for public safety, each from n=2+ respondents, included:

- Addressing issues with the homeless or those in RVs
- Addressing car break-ins
- Addressing illegal drugs / reducing cannabis stores
- Increasing patrols / improving public safety in general
- Providing information on how (non-English-speakers) can contact public safety services

“Homeless sleep in downtown, not safe for kids.”

- Chinese language respondent

“Crack down on crimes and keep immigrants community safe.”

- Chinese language respondent

“For non-English speakers, please advise how to contact the public safety services..”

- Chinese language respondent

Ways MV public safety could better serve immigrant communities: Russian surveys

The only specific recommendation for public safety concerned improving cultural sensitivity (n=1).

“Learn ethnic specifics. Some customs native to immigrants....”

- Russian language respondent

Update: perspectives on MV police

- A separate forthcoming report on community experiences with the MV Police Department will provide more recent and in-depth data from MV residents, workers, and visitors, including (but not limited to) immigrants.
- The report is part of a process led by the HRC to gather community input and report on themes to the City Council, MVPD, and community.

Interest in involvement in community affairs and local governance in the future: Spanish surveys

- The most common response (from close to a third) was not interested, and several were unsure.
- Among those who reported interest, areas were diverse and included:
  - Giving presentations or classes for immigrants/community
  - Schools/supporting parent involvement in kids' education
  - Library
  - Services
  - Housing
  - Leadership events
  - Committees organizing/implementing City events
  - Publicizing City events
- Several reported limited time, competing responsibilities, or the belief that they were “too old” to be involved.

“I am in the leadership group and try to help by volunteering but sometimes it gets complicated because of my children and their after-school activities. I will try to organize my time more and get more involved. Thank you.”

- Spanish language respondent

Interest in involvement in community affairs and local governance in the future: Chinese surveys

- Vast majority expressed interest to be more involved.
- Among those who reported interest, areas included:
  - Community safety/reduced cannabis sales
(most common response)
  - Voting
  - Elder services
  - Attending City Council meetings
  - Supporting English language-learning
  - Environmental protection and governance
  - Safe parking and housing
  - Survey participation
- Several respondents reported having time constraints; opportunities to participate online could be helpful.
- Two respondents requested greater promotion of community activities and options for involvement (e.g., via flyers, email).

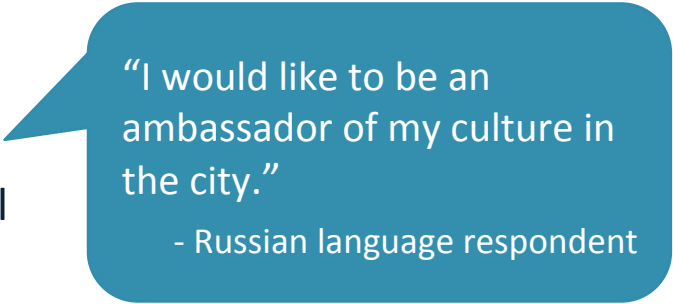

“In the future, I will pay more attention to various issues of the municipal government and actively give opinions. I will participate in the construction of Chinese community, so that the voice of Chinese people can be heard by the city.”

- Chinese language respondent

Interest in involvement in community affairs and local governance in the future: Russian surveys

- The most common response (from just under a third) was not interested.
- Among those who reported interest, areas included:
  - Library
  - Small business survival
  - Cultural ambassador
  - Helping achieve the most beneficial outcome with the least harm
- Several respondents reported being too old or that limited English proficiency was a barrier.

“I would like to be an ambassador of my culture in the city.”

Additional comments from focus groups with immigrants about how to get info. to immigrants

Across all language groups, similar suggestions were offered, including:

- Post flyers in various languages (at the Senior Center, Library, recreational facilities, ethnic markets, places of worship, MVLA Adult School, Day Worker Center)
- Reach out to parents through schools
- Reach out (using email or WhatsApp, as appropriate) via MCOP, Community Action Team (CAT), neighborhood groups, other community groups
- Make the City website easier to navigate and available in different languages<sup>1</sup>
- Mail flyers (Russian speakers only)

<sup>1</sup> The City of MV homepage (<https://www.mountainview.gov/contact/services.asp>) does have a “Select a language” menu (in English) that permits the user to select from among many languages; Google Translate provides a machine translation of all pages. A City disclaimer indicates that accuracy cannot be guaranteed.

Final comments in the survey

- Among Spanish language respondents, the most common theme was a desire for more affordable housing.
- Among Chinese language respondents, the most common theme was community safety, including concerns about theft and cannabis dispensaries.
- Other responses (across all language groups) were diverse; one or several respondents in each expressed thanks for the City surveying immigrants.

“Cost of housing in Mountain View is extremely high, Mountain View is our home. We wouldn't like to abandon it because we don't have enough money to pay the rent.”

- Spanish language respondent

“I hope to ban the sales of cannabis and improve community safety measures to prevent car break-in and shooting.”

- Chinese language respondent

“Thanks for survey to listen [to our] voice.”

- English language respondent

n=43 (excludes those who explicitly indicated that they had no other comments)

Summary of findings: immigrant perspectives

1. MV and City government were usually reported to be welcoming to immigrants.
  - a. Some expressed that MV and City government were less welcoming to low-income immigrants and/or that housing costs were displacing low-income immigrants.
2. Different areas of greatest concern or need were expressed by different groups:
  - a. English, Spanish, and Russian language respondents: high cost of housing.
  - b. Chinese language respondents: quality education for children.
3. Regarding public safety:
  - a. Some respondents (mainly Spanish language) wanted to see greater cultural and linguistic competence or sensitivity.
  - b. Some English and Spanish language respondents recommended greater outreach by public safety to immigrants (although some Spanish language respondents praised outreach that has been done).
  - c. Chinese language respondents were most concerned about drugs/cannabis and improving general public safety/reducing theft.
4. Use of CSA services was particularly common, especially among English, Spanish, and Russian language respondents.

Summary of findings: immigrant perspectives (cont.)

5. Most common service needs:
  - a. English and Russian language respondents: legal services.
  - b. Spanish and Chinese language respondents: translation/interpreting services.
6. There is interest in (more) interpreting services at City meetings/events.
  - a. Many may not know about existing City interpreting services and how to obtain them.
7. Best ways for City to disseminate information:
  - a. English, Spanish, Chinese language respondents: City website (BUT it should be easier to navigate and available in different languages)
  - b. Russian language respondents: MV Voice (they were less likely to go online for info.)
8. HOWEVER, respondents suggested many additional ways to disseminate information (e.g., via schools, places of worship, at residences) and recommended that the City involve the different communities more in outreach activities
  - a. Chinese respondents tended to report interest in becoming more involved in civic affairs.

V. Findings: community group perspectives

Data from community groups<sup>1</sup>

- Data were collected from community organizations and groups (and one additional community volunteer) via interviews conducted by HRC Commissioners or, in a few cases, by submission of written responses to the interview questions.
- Given their qualitative nature, the data are presented as bulleted themes.

<sup>1</sup> Note that the perspectives of the City's Youth Advisory Committee (YAC) are included here, because the YAC members are community volunteers who were appointed by the City as committee members, and in responding to the interview questions, they were bringing a community member (not City staff) perspective.

Community organizations: examples of immigrant-focused services offerings

Listos	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provision of support and advocacy for the needs of children of immigrant families in Mountain View, with a particular focus on the Castro and Mistral Elementary School communities</li> </ul>

<sup>1</sup> Most services and activities listed here also reach non-immigrant populations, but they are highlighted because of their particular focus on, and accessibility to, immigrants.

Community group perspectives: contributions of immigrants

- Are a vital component of a diverse workforce (e.g., as entrepreneurs, restaurant workers, janitorial staff, childcare providers, tech workers, and in many other roles)
- Engage in community-building (e.g., through involvement in schools, neighborhood activities, and other community groups)
- Bring cultural and socioeconomic diversity (which helps everyone learn and grow)

“Immigrants help build a better
Mountain View.”

- City of MV Youth Advisory Committee (YAC) member

Community group perspectives: challenges to serving immigrants

- Fear of deportation among undocumented and mixed-status families
- Threat of displacement (and children having to change schools) among immigrants due to housing costs
- Possibility of immigrants being labeled “public charges” (and, as a result, being denied a Green Card) if any assistance services are used (e.g., housing or food services at CSA); leads to fear of accessing services
- Lack of clarity among immigrants as to: what is under the purview of the school district, City, County, etc.?
- Limited public transportation

Community group perspectives: feedback on City services for immigrants

Positive feedback on City services/programs	Recommendations
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• MCOP's outreach to schools and translation/interpreting services</li> <li>• Spanish Language Civic Leadership Academy: a great resource for the community</li> <li>• MV Police Dept.'s outreach and programming at schools and via the Spanish Language Civic Leadership Academy</li> <li>• MV Public Library's range of resources and programs (e.g., in different languages)</li> <li>• MV Recreation Dept. fee waivers for children in low-income families</li> <li>• Community for All grants</li> <li>• Community events</li> <li>• Good information on City website</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Offer a "Welcome Program" for immigrants on resources/services and the City as a safe place</li> <li>• Clarify which City services/programs need proof of immigration status</li> <li>• Improve awareness of information on the City website</li> <li>• Offer services in more languages through the MCOP</li> <li>• Work more closely with schools and other community organizations to publicize information about City activities and services, including interpreting services</li> <li>• Create/publicize a listserv for non-profits to obtain periodic information from the City on services/events for immigrants</li> <li>• Have events for holidays important to immigrants (e.g., Chinese New Year, Diwali)</li> <li>• Hire more bilingual staff at the Public Library</li> <li>• Be present at community meetings and emphasize MV as a safe space</li> <li>• Provide more Community for All grants</li> </ul>

Community group perspectives: recommendations for additional services

- Interviewees noted that for immigrants, availability and accessibility of the following services should be improved or expanded within MV (with City involvement, as appropriate):
  - Affordable housing (esp. for low-income families)
  - Mental health and social worker services in multiple languages for children and adults
  - Legal services in multiple languages
  - After-school care for children
  - Activities for teenagers (e.g., ESL classes, bilingual tutors, recreation classes)
  - Spanish literacy classes
  - Intimate partner violence services
  - Bilingual navigators to help people access services

Community group perspectives: how to reach immigrants

Conduct additional outreach through:

- Social media (Facebook, Nextdoor)
- Public Library
- Schools (all levels)
- Ethnic grocery stores/restaurants
- Houses of worship
- Community organizations/groups
- Low-income housing bulletin boards
- Call blasting (i.e., broadcasting pre-recorded phone messages to many call recipients at once)

Summary of findings: community group perspectives

1. A wide variety of services are available to immigrants in MV, via the City and community organizations.
2. Community groups view City services for immigrants positively, overall, but would like to see services expanded to reach more people and groups, and for the City to expand and clarify communication about these services via multiple channels.
3. A number of important service needs remain, such as in relation to low-income housing, that should be addressed through collaborations.
4. According to respondents, the City should be an even more vocal and present advocate and example of how to create a safe space for immigrants.

VI. Data and findings: City government perspectives

Data from City staff

- Data were collected from City staff via interviews conducted by HRC Commissioners (see also Section II).
- Given the qualitative nature of the data, the data are presented as bulleted themes.

City staff perspectives: other challenges to serving immigrants

- Possibility of immigrants being labeled “public charges” if any assistance services are used; leads to fear of accessing services
- Among some immigrant groups and subgroups:
  - Limited literacy skills
  - Limited computer skills / Internet access
- Limited awareness of Ask Mountain View/City website and how to use it

City staff perspectives: how to reach immigrants

Conduct additional outreach through:

- Places of worship
- Neighborhood groups
- Schools
- Community organizations
- Pharmacies
- Spanish Language Civic Academy Ambassadors
- MV Voice
- Social media (e.g., Nextdoor, Facebook, WhatsApp)
- Chamber of Commerce
- New staff/volunteers with the appropriate cultural/linguistic backgrounds
- Collaborating more with the MCOP

Summary of finding: City staff perspectives

City Department and Programs:

1. Are providing many services and resources that address the needs and preferences of immigrant communities.
2. Would like to have additional staff/volunteers that speak the languages of their clients and potential clients, and to be able to offer more resources in diverse languages.
3. Recognize a need to expand outreach efforts to diverse communities in ways that are accessible and appealing to those communities.

VII. Limitations

- Young people and South Asians were ultimately under-represented in the data that were collected.
- The survey data reflect a convenience sample and cannot be generalized to the wider population of immigrants (or to subpopulations of immigrants) living and/or working in MV.
- Most information in this report was collected between late 2018 and late 2019, prior to the Coronavirus pandemic and the murder of George Floyd.
  - While a brief update based on county, state, and national-level information follows, it is not specific to MV.
  - As indicated earlier in this slideset (Section IV) a forthcoming report on community experiences with the MV Police Department will provide more recent and in-depth data from MV residents, workers, and visitors, including immigrants.

VIII. Update: since the pandemic began

In Santa Clara County, immigrants are among those most impacted by COVID-19:

- Many are in frontline work, which puts workers and their families' health and lives at risk.<sup>1</sup>
- Many are in sectors with shutdowns or lay-offs.<sup>1</sup>
- Immigrants have lower rates of health insurance<sup>2</sup>
- The federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act) excludes many non-citizen immigrants from relief opportunities.<sup>3</sup>
  - However, State of California and private funders have offered some relief funds to the undocumented.<sup>4,5</sup>

COVID-19 has exacerbated additional issues for immigrants:

- The digital divide, particularly for low-income immigrants, affects children's access to school<sup>1</sup> and all ages' access to civic and social life.
- Asian and Pacific Islander communities are experiencing a rise in racist and xenophobic attacks all over the country.<sup>2</sup>
- Despite extensive outreach efforts, immigrants in Santa Clara County have been undercounted in the latest U.S. Census, which will affect funding for services and representation in Congress.<sup>3</sup>

"...[E]ven though we are doing well across the county[,] immigrant communities are still being undercounted... everybody who lives here has to fill out their [census] so that we are all also able to draw down resources to be able to then provide for folks that need the most support right now[,] especially due to the pandemic."

IX. Preliminary recommendations to the City

1. Develop an orientation in different languages for people who are new to the City on diverse services offered by the City, County, local public schools, and private non-profit entities; consider partnering with other organizations on this effort.
2. Develop and roll out a communications plan focused on immigrant communities that leverages a variety of media/pathways and expands the group of organizations and volunteer immigrant community liaisons who can assist with dissemination of information.
3. Conduct an information campaign around the MCOP's interpreting and translation services; and investigate the potential need for services in other languages, especially based on the 2020 Census findings (although we know that immigrant communities have been undercounted).
4. Continue to offer the Spanish Civic Academy, provide up-to-date information on the Academy and the associated Ambassadors Program on the City website, and consider offering similar academies in other languages (for example, Mandarin).
5. Collaborate with the non-profit, education, and business sectors to continue to reduce the digital divide among immigrant (and non-immigrant) communities in MV.
6. In developing programs and policies addressing housing cost, stability, and displacement, police-community relations, and other equity-linked issues, consider impacts on diverse immigrant subcommunities.
